Rumors Ahead of Fact?

Evelle J. Younger, California's Attorney General, was in San Diego last week for the advertised purpose of discussing court reform with the San Diego County Bar Association.

He pointed with pride to the situation by which four of his five court reform proposals would soon become law.

"Millions of Californians are concerned about the crisis in the courts; they're scared and losing faith. . . the system is no longer effective; maybe the system can't work any longer. It appears on the verge of collapse," he said.

"Designed to protect the accused as well as punish the guilty, the system is now being atacked by those it was designed to protect," he added.

His proposals has to do with stricter rules on attorney incompetence; faster jury selection; denying unecessary delays; no self-representation in serious criminal cases, and certifying qualified attorneys as criminal specialists.

But there is more to Attorney General Younger's speech tour than court reform although that is an important matter for the public. Younger has been the subject of a long list of rumors that suggest he will try to move up the political ladder.

He is an intelligent man, makes a fine appearance and is record is spotless.

For a while it seemed that he would get the appointment as U.S. Attorney General. Unquestionably someone high in Washington leaked the rumor to see how it would be accepted by party supporters. One newsmagazine even had the address of Younger's Washington residence. The rumor didn't jell, however.

In another "leak" Younger, it was tipped, would get full party support for governorship of California if Governor Reagan were to be given an important Washington post. The rumor was short-lived.

But the continuing rumor is that Younger will replace J. Edgar Hoover as chief of the FBI—should Hoover retire. But Younger said "Hoover isn't going to retire. He'll serve for may more years—and serve well."

In a press conference prior to his Bar Association appearance, Younger denied starting the rumors himself..

At the conference he released drug arrest figures that seemed to show the San Dieggo drug problem was moving sideways rather than up or down.

He said there were 3,035 juvenile (under 18) drug arrests in San Diego County in 1970—up 77 from 1969. He admitted that a partial no-bust policy and a more relaxed attitude by some courts may have given an untrue picture for 1970.

Adult drug arrests in 1970 were up 717 to a total of 6,955.

Younger said it is possible that youngsters are learning the sad story of dangerous drugs as opposed to marijuana; that a lesser number of arrests for the hard-stuff might be in the 1971 records but there may be an increase in marijuana arrests. Soon—probably next year—there will be research evidence available to prove by scientific fact that marijuana is as dangerous as it is said to be—or that it isn't.

In any event, Younger's office, as part of the Department of Justice, will continue to vigorously enforce the narcotic laws — and just as vigorously, we suspect, he will let "the people" see him in the event that one of the rumors becomes a little more concrete.

Job Aid Funds Here OK'd by Supervisors

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The county will take part in the federal Public Employment Program, the Board of Supervisors decided Tuesday.

There were some misgivings on the part of the board, but these were not sufficient for rejection of $1,830,300 to furnish new jobs for the unemployed in government.

The U.S. Congress recently appropriated $1 billion for employment purposes and in certain areas, including San Diego County, has been rushed much faster than usual.

Frank Panarisi, administrator of the county's Human Resources Agency, said he has never seen anything like it, both from speed and the absence of federal controls.

The county must submit its first application by Aug. 20. This will be for $340,000, Panarisi said, and employe about 50 persons.

Later, the county will act for the cities other than San Diego, and school districts, to give another 100 persons employment.

San Diego, as a city of over 75,000 people, will have its own program of $2,343,600 which will include the unified school district.

The administrator said the persons hired could include professionals to entirely unskilled labor and these workers could be in practically any governmental field.

Medical Center 50% Completed

With 50% of construction completed, the $360,000 San Carlos Medical Center, 7430 Jackson Drive, will be ready for occupancy by late Fall, 1971.

Recognizing a need for a highly specialized facility to accommodate the administering of rapidly emerging procedures and techniques in the field of diagnostic and curative medicine, six local physicians combined their talents to develop a facility that will meet the requirements of both patient and staff member to offer the finest in health care.

The new complex was designed and engineered by health care facility specialists Rochlin & Baran, A.I.A. & Associates of Los Angeles. Robert Audia Construction Company is serving as general contractor.

Art Show Scheduled

Meadow Lake Country Club and Hidden Meadows will be the scene of the first annual art show of the Beride Gallery of Encinitas. It will feature contemporary paintings, pottery, graphics and jewelry of eight San Diego County artists.

The show will be held on the patio and under the spreading oak trees of Meadow Lake Country Club's Oak Room Restaurant from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., August 22, Dale Eckert, general manager of Continental Heritage Corporation, announced.

The show is open to the public without charge.

Adults May Choose From 254 Classes

A total of 254 classes in adult education have been established to be offered in September, beginning when the academic year starts September 13.

Any person, 18 years of age or over, or any high school graduate, may enroll in the classes which are being offered on all eight high school campuses, and at several adult day facilities in the district. The classes range from English courses for non-native citizens to vocational apprenticeship programs which are career oriented.

A brochure listing all the courses and the times and places at which they will be offered, will be available the last week in August. Most area residents will receive one in the mail, and additional copies will be available throughout the community at various distribution centers, including post offices, art centers, yardage stores, and other facilities. A person wishing a copy of the course listings may receive one free by calling the adult education office at his nearest high school.

With the demand for increased vocational education, new classes will be scheduled on afternoons and Saturdays, thus making it possible for upper class high school students to participate. High school students wishing to enrich their normal curriculum with vocational education courses from the adult school program will have to obtain special permission to do so. In some cases, persons must satisfy certain prerequisites in order to enroll in the course.

A person wishing to enroll in one of the courses offered may do so by attending the first class meeting. In some courses there will be a $1 registration fee, and several courses may require an additional fee for supplies.

The El Cajon High School campus will be the most active with 90 evening classes, one afternoon class, and three Saturday courses offered. Helix High will be second with 67 evening classes and one afternoon course. Mt. Miguel will house 42 evening classes, and Santana High will have 27 evening classes and two Saturday classes.

Class On Drug Use Planned

A three-week course titled, "Drugs and the Family Crisis" will be offered free to the public beginning August 24 on the Grossmont High School campus.

The course involves six two-hour sessions and will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays in rooms 2 and 3 of the Special Education Building.

Dr. Paul C. Oas is the instructor for the class which is described as a series of community interaction sessions. Enrollment is open to any adult of high school age or over.

The class is normally offered to parents and their children, with the express purpose of affording opportunities for parents and youths to communicate with others in regard to common family and drug culture concerns. But in this final three-week cycle of the summer, the class will be open to any interested adult.

The class is structured to provide additional information regarding drug use, misuse, and abuse, legal and social implications, and family interrelationships.

The subjects to be treated in each of the six seminars are, (1) "What are we Talking About?"; (2) "Our Chemical Culture"; (3) "What Do We Value?"; (4) "Is It Legal?"; (5) "Is It Worth the Risk?"; and (6) "Don't Blow It — Make up your Mind."

Interested persons may enroll up to the date of the first class meeting by contacting Dr. Nicholas S. Mallek, director, Pupil Personnel Services, at the Grossmont Union High School District Office, 465-3131.

Six Injured By Two-Car Crash In Lemon Grove

Four persons were sent to Grossmont Hospital and two others sustained minor injuries in a two-car crash last Wednesday afternoon at Canton dr., and Imperial ave.

According to reports from the California Highway Patrol, a vehicle driven by Michael Cisco, 32, of 7628 Canton dr., Lemon Grove, collided with a car driven by Patrick W. Johnston, 23, of 6426 Medio, San Diego, at 12:35 p.m.

Cisco's vehicle was reportedly westbound on Canton dr., and Johnston's vehicle was northbound on Imperial when the mishap occurred.

Injured in the accident were Johnston, Cisco, Beverly Johnston, Aaron Johnston, Barbara Hancock, a passenger in the Johnston vehicle, and Iorik Johnston, also a passenger in the Johnston vehicle.

No complaint was filed at the last report from the Highway Patrol.

L.G. Meat Firm Officers Charged In Switch Fraud

SAN DIEGO (CNA)—Charges of petty theft and false and misleading advertising have been filed against two officials of a Lemon Grove meat sales agency.

Don Friedland, president of Lemon Grove Meats, of 8321 Broadway, and Joe M. Silva, a salesman for the same firm, are slated to appear in Municipal Court on Sept. 22 on the charges, which arose out of alleged consumer fraud.

James Lorenz, head of the district attorney's division of consumer fraud, said the complaint against the two Lemon Grove men was filed as the result of undercover investigation.

The complaint charges that the two men sold a hind quarter of beef to the investigators on July 23, but later delivered a different meat, cut and wrapped. Lorenz said the hind quarter that the agents paid for was still hanging in the meat firm's locker after the other meat was delivered.

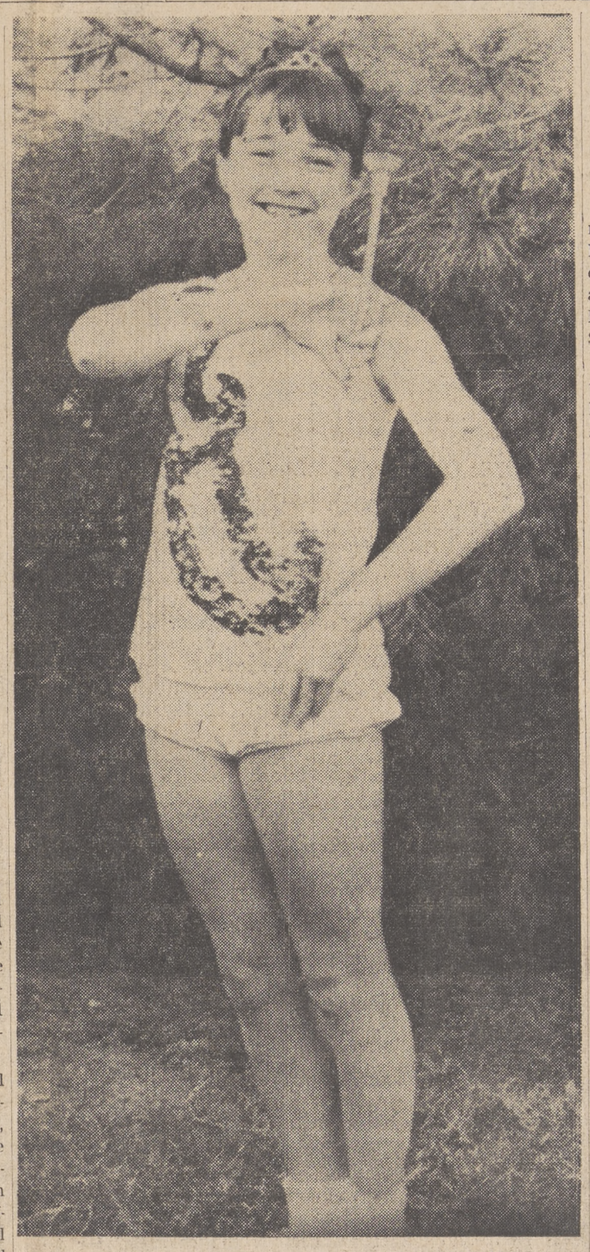
Dog-Park Ban Eased

SAN DIEGO (CNA)—Dogs were given visitation rights to county parks by the County Board of Supervisors on Tuesday.

The board ordered whatever steps that are necessary to lift the total ban on dogs from county parks that was imposed during the rabies problem that the county experienced for many months.

Dogs would still have to be on leashes and could not be kept in the parks overnight.

Board members indicated they could see no logic in having dogs banned from county parks, but allowed in state and federal parks.



TOPS IN THE NATION — Miss Lynn Ellen Shubert, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Shubert, of 652 Paraiso ave., Spring Valley, traveled to South Bend, Indiana, recently and came back with the National-World Strutting Championship title for the 15-year old novice division. The contest was held at Notre Dame University under the banner of "American Youth on Parade." Miss Shubert also finished fifth in twirling and placed in the top twenty in hoop, two baton and flag routines. Miss Shubert, who twirls with the Monte Vista Marching Band, will be featured in DRUM MAJOR MAGAZINE'S 22nd annual library edition of WHO'S WHO IN BATON TWIRLING.

Tighter Controls Seen For Commercial and Multi Lots

SAN DIEGO (CNA)—County supervisors moved last week toward closer control of multiple residence, commercial and manufacturing zones when it approved the concept of requiring site development plans to be submitted to the planning department and commission.

The purpose would be to insure the adequacy of public rights of way and improvements, to review the quality of design in relation to the future occupants, neighboring property owners, and the general public.

A site development plan would be required in any now development proposing two or more main buildings on a single lot.

It would not apply to one or two family residences.

The mechanics of the ordinance are still under consideration, especially as to the size of developments that would have to come under review.

The plan would have to show the plot, building locations, topography, circulations patterns and other pertinent data.

The county does not now have the power to review building plans where the development is in the proper zone and does not need a special use permit.

Planning Director Dan Cherrier said builders cannot now place more than one structure on a lot in the multiple residential zones without filing a suubdivision map.

Approval would come from Cherrier or, in the case of large developments, from the planning commission without public hearing.

LG Fire Report

The Lemon Grove Fire Department answered one local rescue call last week and stood by for the San Diego Fire Department on a large grassfire near College Grove Shopping Center.

The lone rescue run was to the 7300 block of Canton dr., at 8:45 p.m. Friday, where a traffic accident victim was treated for lacerations.

The fire near College Grove occurred at about 2:30 p.m. Thursday. The fire, of undetermined origin, caused no structural damage, although it burned between ten and 15 acres of brush and billowed smoke which could be seen for several miles.

Models Set At Terra II Development

The first four model homes at the Terra II planned residential development in Spring Valley will be completed next month, according to a spokesman for Standmark, Inc., developer of the $4 million project.

The development, when completed, will include 200 condominium units on 30 acres of land east of Sweetwater rd., and south of Ildica st. Also scheduled for the project are a community swimming pool and a six-acre park with a picnic area and children's playground.

Construction of the first 50 units was to begin this month, with the first phase to be completed in January. The project will feature four different floor plans, one and two story designs, and two and three bedroom units. Structures will be in both Contemporary and Spanish architecture.

Night Planning Assn. Meeting Draws Better

One of the most informative meetings yet held will be the Lemon Grove Planning Association's September 14 general meeting at 7:30 p.m. at the Lemon Grove Junior High School auditoriuum.

Jim Dorman, chairman of the Association, said he would have reports from the following sub-committees:

- Ron Lauer's Parks and Recreation
- Ben Ela's Residential
- Bob Mastny's Utilities and Public Facilities
- Gilbert Moyer's Transportation, and
- Franklin Ball's Environmental Control.

Dorman said sub-committees are meeting weekly to get reports in shape for the Sept. 14 general meeting. Elements of these reports were given at the Aug. 12 meeting at Golden Ave. auditorium at which more than 80 persons attended the executive committee meeting.

The increased attendance was a result of the group deciding to hold alternate meetings at night. This was the first.

The next meeting will be an afternoon meeting, however. It will be at 3 p.m.

The other item which sparked attendance was the recently announced interim planning ordinance. Several housing projects in the southern part of the community will be affected.

A problem facing the executive committee is the "right to vote" rule. Dorman said a sub-committee will report on this August 26. At present a loosely enforced rule is that voters must have attended three consecutive meetings.

Clayne Monk, head of the Commuunity Planning section of the Conty Planning Department, explained the meaning of interim planning and distributed pamphlets on the community planning process at last week's meeting.

Persons are needed for the various sub-committees, Dorman said. Volunteers should call him at his law office: 469-2147.

Crash Puts Man, Son In Hospital

An off-duty San Diego policeman was injured last Wednesday afternoon in Lemon Grove, when the motorcycle he was driving struck a car driven by a Spring Valley woman on Skyline dr.

Sent to Grossmont Hospital after the mishap was James Bruce Sing, 31, the driver of the motorcycle, and his son, James David Sing, 12. The driver of the car, Sharon Lee Jones, 23, of 1661 Walbollen, Spring Valley, was not injured.

According to reports from the California Highway Patrol, Sing was driving north on Skyline dr., when he struck the side of the automobile, which was turning left onto Canton dr., after traveling south on Skyline.

The accident occurred at about 1:20 p.m.

Reports from Grossmont Hospital indicated that Sing was in good condition and that his son was released Friday. No complaint was issued at the time of the last report from the Highway Patrol.

Andree Nelson Is Promoted

Andree N. Nelson has been promoted to assistant manager in charge of operations at Bank of America's La Mesa branch, announced vice president and manager C. de Joseph.

Mrs. Nelson

Mrs. Nelson advances to the position after a year as operation officer at the branch.

She joined Bank of America in 1957 as a bookkeeper at the National and Sampson branch in San Diego where she served five years before assigned to the Campo-Conrad branch in Spring Valley. Two years later she was assigned as assistant operations officer to the El Cajon branch and in 1967 was promoted to assistant cashier-operations officer and reassigned to the Campo-Conrad branch.

SV Man Takes Two-Day Class

A Spring Valley man, Ronald Sisco, of 3255 South Barcelona st., was among 25 fire science students from Miramar College to complete a two-day course in "Radiological Monitoring Operation" last week.

The course, which includes instruction in the use of Geiger counters, ion chambers, and other radiological measuring devices, was held at the County's Civil Defense Training Center, Gillespie Field, last Thursday and Friday.

The course also includes an exercise on peace-time nuclear incidents and accidents, Marty said. With the increase in the transportation of radioactive isotopes and other radioactive material for industrial and medical use it is necessary that personnel of the safety services know the hazards that can be dangerous to the public. Students of the course are instructed in the proper handling of such emergencies, Marty said.

The training is part of a six week course given at the Miramar College. Over 240 hours of classroom and field type training are required to prepare new personnel for the fire service, according to Captain L. A. Vega, San Diego City Fire Department.

SV Elevator Firm Expands

The United States Elevator Corporation, on the property of H.L.M. Industries Co., at 2500 Sweetwater blvd., Spring Valley, just east of Jamacha blvd., is in an expansion program, according to vice president Vern Larson.

The expansion includes an 18 acre area, and the 215,000 square foot addition will see the erection of a new elevator component factory. Larson said it probably will be one of the largest factories in San Diego County and should be completed by the first of next year.

The Spring Valley company, at present, employes approximately 300 persons, shipping elevator components to 32 major cities of the United States, including Alaska and Hawaii. The new plant, Larson said, should make room for additional employees.

Litter Bags Program Set

John Morrell & Co., the nation's third largest meat processor, has joined in the fight against litter on the back of a cute kangaroo called "Morrey — The Litter Gitter." The program concept, symbolized by the kangaroo with its handy pouch, was created by John Morrell Creative Services as an ambassador in the ecology movement.

Starting this week thousands of Morrey the kangaroo plastic litter bags will make their appearance in groceries and supermarkets across the nation, and the bags will be available free with each purchase of Morrell meat products.

Consumer interest will be stimulated with the aid of a variety of materials ranging from posters and banners to handy rail-strip dispensers.

Real Estate Office Added To Program

In an effort to combat the litter problem in San Diego, a real estate firm has joined Alcoa's "Yes We Can" aluminum can reclamation and recycling program.

John Evans Realty, 9239 Mission Gorge Road, Santee, will pay the public 10c a pound for aluminum cans Saturday and Sunday mornings from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. The real estate office will operate the "Yes We Can" center on a non-profit basis as a public service.

Since the inception of the "Yes We Can" San Diego program in September, 1970, more than 950,000 pounds of aluminum cans have been recycled, representing about 30 percent of all the aluminum cans sold in San Diego County during that period.

Other "Yes We Can" centers include, College Grove Shopping Center, Grossmont Shopping Center, and Spring Valley Shopping Center.

Five quarts of milk are required to make each pound of blue cheese, a cheese rich in calcium and phosphorus.

Minnie and William Alexander, 8119 Golden ave., Lemon Grove celebrated their 30th anniversary earlier this month at Grace Lutheran church, Fellowship Hall in San Diego. The couple was married in Billings, Montana, June 7, 1941. The surprise celebration was two months late to accommodate more than 100 relatives and friends.
Mrs. Alexander works at Sprouse-Reitz and he is associated with California Linen Supply.
The reception was arranged by the couple's daughters Chandra and Wylene.
The couple moved to Lemon Grove in 1950 to occupy their present residence.

Health Center Birthday Celebration Set Today

Children's Health Center will celebrate its 17th birthday at 3 p.m., today, at the Center with clowns, a Sea World mini-show and — of course — children.

The show for patients will feature "surprise" characters from Sea World which will visit children at their bedsides, an otter act from Sea World to entertain in the playroom and the Al Bahr Shrine Clowns.

The lobby will be decorated with handmade birthday cards from the patients to the Center and courtesy cake and punch will be served to all parents, visitors and staff members. Patients will receive their meals on special birthday trays with party favors made by Girl Scout Troop No. 579 from Chula Vista.

The Center, located at 8001 Frost st., San Diego, cares for the physical, mental and emotional needs of new borns through 19-year-olds. It began as a small Children's Hospital and has now grown to a five-divisional health complex.

These divisions include Child Development Center, with the Regional Center for mental retardation; Child Guidance Clinic, helping the emotionally disturbed child; Children's Hospital, an acute pediatric facility; Easter Seals, which supportes crippled children and adults; and the San Diego Speech and Hearing Center, which works with speech and hearing difficulties.

Progress made in the last year at the Center includes such new programs as rehabilitation, with a special wing for children with birth defects and crippling injuries; a dental clinic which currently serves in and out-patient needs; and the Adolescent Clinic, which deals with problems in teenagers from acne and obesity to drug abuse and family problems.

Art Mart Planned

The Foothills Art Association of La Mesa announced its forthcoming "Art Mart" by the membership to be held in Balboa Park August 21 and 22. The show will be located in back of the organ pavilion where there is ample parking.

Dance-Concert Set Tomorrow

The youth group from the First United Methodist Church of La Mesa announced last week that it will celebrate the coming of "Indian Summer" with a casual dance-concert tomorrow night from 7 to 11 p.m., at the church.

Handling the musical chores for the affair will be a new local rock group, "Good and Plenty." Members of band are all well-known local performers, having been affiliated with other local bands previously.

A special light show will also be presented by "Monofilament."

The dance is open to the public and a $.75 donation is being asked. The church is located on the corner of Palm and Lemon aves. in La Mesa.

Area Births

Following are the latest Spring Valley and Lemon Grove births as reported from Grossmont Hospital:

To Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hobbs, of Spring Valley, a 6-lb. 5-oz. girl on August 5.

To Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Linn, of Lemon Grove, an 8-lb. 9-oz. boy on August 5.

Auxiliary To Handle Telethon Telephones

The San Diego County Council, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, will organize a group of 80 members from 32 auxiliaries of the VFW in the first district to man telephones and perform other services on the Labor Day Weekend Jerry Lewis National Muscular Dystrophy Telethon.

KFMB-TV Channel 8 will handle the coverage for the Telethon. Auxiliary members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will render service from 6:30 p.m. September 5, to 1 a.m., September 6, at the old Land Title Bldg., on the Plaza in downtown San Diego.

Mrs. Everett York, President of the County Council VFW Auxiliary, announces that the next meeting of the Council will be held August 23, at 8 p.m., at Robert H. Scholler VFW Post Hall, 299 "I" St., Chula Vista. Arrangements for the telethon will be discussed and formulated.

98th BIRTHDAY — Joseph Mazer, left, and William Rife talk about "the good old days" over a glass of punch at Mazer's 98th birthday party at Monte Vista Lodge last Friday afternoon.
About 45 persons were on hand to help Mazer celebrate. Mazer, who has been a 33rd degree Mason for nearly 60 years, has retired from the jewelry business, having been a wholesale diamond salesman. He entered the Oklahoma Law School at the age of 60 and graduated through a four-year program there in three years, and was ranked fourth in his class..

Mail Bag

Dear Editor,

Having resided in Lemon Grove since April of this year, I have tried to comply with my doctor's orders to "walk and then walk some more. In my observations of the citizenry here I have become convinced that Lemon Grove will become famous, known to posterity as the birthplace of a new family of the species, Homo-Sapiens—legless man.

In Lemon Grove there are few sidewalks, and they are used for parking automobiles, or displaying Japanese motorcycles.

Since no one walks in this town, except the distance from his door to his car, citizens will soon cease to grow legs. This will create new problems. Super-markets will have to install shopping carts with seats for the legless housewife, plus one for legless junior.

It will be completely motorized with power steering and even a toy steering wheel for junior. All Mrs. Consumer will drive to where these sophisticated carts are parked, slide out of her car seat, into the cart seat, hook her car to a continuous belt like they have in the car wash, put her shopping cart in gear and get going up and down the lanes of the Super-Market.

The banking industry, those foxy individuals, several years ago made it possible to transact all banking without ever leaving the seat of the car. Very popular too, even though the wait in its line is longer than at the check-out counter of the super-market.

There's no end to the problems created by the evolution of a legless man. All these high-powered scientists that were thrown out of work by the cancellation of the SST contracts could go to work solving these problems. And just think of the thousands of jobs made available to those on welfare, making the continuous belts, moving sidewalks, escalators, and machinery to operate them, just to move this new breed of legless Homo-Sapiens around.

But it would be necessary to place traffic signals or traffic officers at the intersection in the super-market, thus creating jobs for the Junior Patrol where financing for sophisticated traffic signals was not immediately available. Auto manufacturer would have to put the throttle back on the steering wheel where Henry Ford originally had it on the Model "T". Perhaps scientists could develop an automatic electronic controls. I understand they are experimenting with such a device for freeways now.

I could go on and on but this will open the window on

Hardison's Telespanish

By JAMES HARDISON

"Decir" means "to say." It is one of those "stem changing" verbs. As you may know, the stem is the front part of the verb that remains after we remove the last two letters (obviously, the last two letters in this case are "ir"). The unchanged stem for "decir" is "dec" and this is the part that changes.

We change "dec" to "dic" and add "e" to this changed stem to form "dice" which means "says." For example "el dice" means "he says" and "ella dice" means "she says." We may also use "dice" with "usted" (you) in constructing the question phrase "Que dice usted?" for "What do you say?"

"Ella me dice la verdad" (She tells me the truth) and "El me dice el numero" (He tells me the number) are interesting variations in the meaning of "dice." Both of these examples show how "dice" may also be used to express "tells."

"Ellos dicen" (they say) is plural form for "dice." We may use this in expressions like "Ellos dicen mucho sobre nada." for "They say a lot about nothing." and "Que dicen ellos sobre ella?" for "What do they say about her?"

"Digo" might be considered as a radical change from the verb "decir." In this case we find the letter "g" included to form the first person which would be translated "I say" or "I tell." Thus we may say "Yo digo la verdad" (I tell the truth) or "Yo no digo nada" for "I don't say anything."

"Dime" is a compact form which we may use only with our close friends to express "tell me." This is seen in "Dime todo" which is translated "Tell me everything." By contrast "Digame" is used to express "Tell me" in business contacts and with persons other than friends.

Practice phrases listed below demonstrate how easy it is to say complete expressions with variations of "decir." Test yourself now.

Important Phrases: say "Dime todo." (DEE-meh TOH-thoh) for "Tell me everything."

Say "Que dice ella?" (keh DEE-seh EH-yah) for "What does she say?"

Say "Digame el numero." (DEE-gah-meh NOO-mehr-roh) for "Tell me the number."

Say "Ella no dice nada." (EH-yah noh DEE-seh NAH-thah) for "She does not say anything."

Say "Que dice usted?" (keh DEE-seh oo-STEHD) for "Wha do you say?"

Say "Yo digo la verdad." (yoh DEE-goh lah vehr-DAHD) for "I tell the truth."

This Sunday

Let no one imagine that it is a strained and unnatural thing for one to pray. The contrary is much closer to the fact. It is for more unnatural for one not to pray. Prayer is one of the most natural of human instincts. Prayer is man's response to the divine will.

More Sheriff's Rangers Sought By Lemon Grove Deputy Scott

Wanted: men between the ages of 21 and 50 in top physical condition, equipped with a horse, riding gear, horse trailer, and a hand gun.

Men answering this description are being sought by County Sheriff's Deputy Jimmy Scott, of the Lemon Grove substation.

Deputy Scott is in charge of the Sheriff's Department's Rangers, a group of 26 volunteer men from throughout the county who donate an average of 1,000 hours and $300 to $400 each year.

The Rangers serve San Diego County as a mobile search and rescue group, ready to start a search for a lost youngster or adult in areas of the county where even off-road vehicles can't penetrate, and all in a matter of two hours.

A phone rings in the Sheriff's office. "My little boy wandered away from our cabin this morning . . ." Or, 'One of the men in our hunting group didn't get back to camp last night . . ."

Two hours later, 20 Rangers are on the scene, search areas and patterns are outlined, and call goes out, "Saddle up. We move out in ten minutes."

Each Ranger contributes his time, talent, and equipment to the organization. Rangers are involved in about two searches a month. Recent figures show that each man contributes about 1000 hours of his time a year, and logs 2000 miles on his own vehicle. He uses about $5000 worth of his own quipment — horse, riding rack, vehicle and carrier, uniforms, tracking and camping gear. Rangers pay out of their own pockets for transportation costs, food and miscellaneous expenses.

"We figure these dedicated men save the County $30,000 a year," said Deputy Scott. "Since any group's performance is equal to their ability, we hold monthly exercises to develop the skills these men need," he said. "They're trained in tracking, first aid, fugitive apprehension, preservation of the crime scene, riot control, and search and seizure of suspects. Most of them have taken Spanish, too, in case they run across aliens." In addition, each man must qualify every six months on the shooting range with his own weapon.

In the last few months, the Rangers were called to search for — and found — a lost boy in the Julian area, a missing woman in Oak Grove, and a lost hunter in the Palomar mountains.

"We always go out on a mission with the attitude that we will find what we're looking for. The most discouraging search is having to quit before we accomplish this," said Scott.

All their missions aren't looking for lost people. They spent six weeks last year in an intensive, on-horseback survey of the "big burn" area, trying to get an accurate count of dead animals and a damage report for the Forest Service. They have also helped find abandoned stolen vehicles, reported aliens, possible suicides and murders. More and more they are working closely with regular Sheriff's units, once being called to help quell a disturbance in El Monte park.

"Our greatest search problem is trying to track down someone 24 hours or more after they're lost. Usually the family doesn't call us until they've failed to find the person, often not until the next day," said Scott. "It's difficult to predict where a person in panic will wander in a day's time, especially a child."

The search parties go as far as possible in vehicles. Then the horses are unloaded and the real work begins. Walkie-talkies keep small parties of searchers in constant contact with other groups and with the "command headquarters" back at the vehicles.

"Most of our men are pretty regular members of our team," comments Scott. "Some have been volunteer Rangers since 1961 when the group was formed. Our oldest member is 67 years old."

"What keeps them at it? Well, I guess you could say that every time you have the satisfaction of finding a lost victim, it's almost like finding your own child, or wife, or friend — you just can't describe it. This feeling is all the pay these men need," Scott noted.

Scott said they can always use more Rangers. Those who feel they are qualified are invited to contact him at the Lemon Grove substation of the San Diego County Sheriff's department.

SHE'S FOUND — San Diego County Sheriff's department mounted rangers listen in background as Dennis Johnson, right, of Escondido, hears the good news that a lost girl has been found. The rangers, all volunteers, donate about 1000 hours a year to search and rescue missions for lost or injured persons in areas of the county which are inaccessible to vehicles. Groups keep in touch with each other, with mobile headquarters, and nearest Sheriff's substation through "walkie-talkie" equipment.

Over 20,000 Horses Are Vaccinated

Dr. H. C. Johnstone, County veterinarian, said that over 20,000 of the county's horses have been vaccinated against the Venezuelan sleeping sickness.

While eight Southern California counties are actively participating in the immunization program, San Diego County is by far the leader and has accounted for over 20 percent of all horses vaccinated in the state.

Dr. Johnstone attributes this to the excellent disease control services furnished by County government, allowing the County to start sooner and move faster than any other area in Southern California, and to the dedication of the 27 veterinarians now involved in the program.

Horses are being vaccinated at the rate of 2,000 per day. Even so, it is anticipated to take another four weeks to reach the majority of the county's 40,000 horses.

While horse owners are worried over the aspect of the sleeping sickness reaching the county, Dr. Johnstone said that the county's rabbit raisers have their own disease to worry about.

An outbreak of rabbit myxomatosis has hit the county, with some ranchers in both Fallbrook and Ramona reporting heavy losses. Like the equine sleeping sickness, myxomatosis is also transmitted by mosquitos, biting flies, and by direct contact.

Both diseases utilize small rodents as reservoirs of the virus and outbreaks occur during summer months, which corresponds to the height of the mosquito season.

Unlike sleeping sickness, Dr. Johnstone said, myxomatosis affects only rabbits and poses no human health problem.

Cranston Bill Would Bring Bike System

Senator Alan Cranston has introduced the "Bicycle Transportation Act of 1971," which would enable states and communities to use federal highway trust fund money on a 50-50 matching basis to develop bicycle comuter systems.

"The bicycle is an important healthful and pollution-free alternative to traditional modes of transportation," Cranston said. "Its use should be encouraged, not only to improve our personal health, but also to promote the health and welfare of the entire community by reducing motor vehicular noise and air pollution."

Cranston said that better facilities for bikers would "also benefit the motorist by reducing traffic congestion, opening more parking areas and eliminating potential hazards for the car driving public."

Under his bill, federal assistance would be available for construction of such things as exclusive or preferential bicycle lanes, bike paths and bicycle traffic control devices, shelters and parking facilities. Senator John Tunney (D., Calif.) is a co-sponsor. An identical bill was introduced to the House June 23 by Congressman Edward Koch (D., N.Y.).

Mexican Wasps To Battle US Pest Problem

The University of California is now sending Mexico-reared insects across the border into San Diego County at the state's request.

They are beneficial insects being released by the California Department of Agricuture in a program aimed at establishing biological control of a new citrus pest in southern San Diego County.

The pest is the woolly whitefly, which causes considerable damage to citrus orchards in several counties. It was first discovered in California five years ago in backyard San Diego citrus trees.

The beneficial insect species, all tiny wasps or chalcids from Latin American countries, parasitize the pupae of the woolly whitefly, eventually killing them as part of the parasite's reproductive cycle.

A UC project team is screening and colonizing the beneficial insects in Tijuana at woolly whitefly infestation sites. These locations, together with collections made in Culiacan, Mexico, and elsewhere, are the sources for the beneficial insects sent by the UC team to the California Department of Agriculture for its use in southern San Diego County. Up to now, more than 1,000 of the beneficial insects have been obtained by the state from the Tijuana-based UC project.

Caution Urged For Use Of Pesticides

San Diego County home gardeners and other users of pesticides were warned last week by County Agricultural Commissioner James M. Moon to use the utmost caution with all chemical compounds for controlling insects and other pests around the garden and in the household.

"Most pesticides are safe when properly used, but may be extremely dangerous when carelessly used," Moon said, in urging that everyone carefully read the instructions on the label before using a spray or dust, and follow instructions to the letter.

"Here in San Diego County, pesticides are frequently necessary to control insects which can destroy trees, shrubs, and flowers, but there is a right and a wrong way to use them," Moon said. He added that the label of every bottle, can, or package containing a chemical substance has specific directions for its use, and when these directions are followed faithfully, there should be no problem.

Help Due For Senior Citizens

A representative of the Franchise Tax Board will be in National City August 24, to assist California senior citizens in filing claims for benefits under the Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance Law. The representative will be at the Community Building, 140 East 12th st., from 8 a.m. to noon.

The law provides for a reimbursement of a portion of the property taxes paid by Californians who are over 65 years of age, own and reside in their own homes, who have paid the property taxes for the current year, and who's income is $3,350 or less. Claims must be filed prior to October 15, 1971.

Almost nine million dollars was paid out in reimbursements to 62,000 senior citizens last year.

Openings Available For Tennis College

Openings are now available to residents of all San Diego County communities to enroll in the Vic Braden Tennis College at Rancho Bernardo, it was announced by Braden.

The tennis college offers reservations from Tuesday through Sunday for as many weeks as anyone desires, but most applicants sign up for the two-day "crash course" designed to dramatically improve any level of game.

Braden's tennis college is the first in the word of its type, offering instructional films, lecturers, demonstrations, teaching lanes with ball machines, video playback tapes with recorded commentary, on-court instruction, supervised practice and play, and evening strategy sessions.

Reservations may be made by calling 487-1611 or writing the Tennis College at 17550 Bernardo Oaks Drive, San Diego. 92128

Going To Throw Something Out? It Can Probably Be Recycled

The San Diego County Integrated Regional Environmental Development Agency has compiled a list of places to recycle unwanted or used items.

According to Mrs. Gamma Parks, Education and Communication director for the project, newspapers may be recycled by being stacked, tied and taken to a nearby drop box of any of the county's Kiwanis clubs.

In Lemon Grove, drop boxes are located in shopping centers and at the fire station. The Spring Valley Kiwanis club has no program.

Another way to recycle newspapers is to look under waste paper in the yellow pages for companies that purchase paper.

To recycle other types of paper, such as letters, corrugated cardboard, ledger paper, or butcher paper, consult the yellow pages. Papers that cannot be recycled include carbon paper, magazines, cereal cartons, and "slick" type papers.

Magazines, while they can't be recycled into another type of useful paper, can be reused. They should be taken to the Head Start Center at 530 44th st., San Diego, or passed on to rest homes, barber shops, and senior citizen's clubs.

Rare old magazines can often be sold to the Museum of Magazine Publishing History, 2617 Monorca way, Del Mar. Used book stores often purchase technical, scentific, and hobby journals.

Rags can be recycled. They can be donated to school art classes or other places where they can be used. See the yellow pages under rags.

Plastics can be recycled, also. Golden Arrow Dairy and Altadena Dairy both buy back their used but clean plastic bottles. The first plastic bag recycling plant has opened in Van Nuys, California. Contact Clark Dawson, 15035 Califa st., Van Nuys.

Clean jars and bottles are also re-usable, although money is usually offered for returnable soda pop bottles and wine bottles from certain wineries.

Chollas Sanitary Fill, 5951 Ryan rd., accepts unbroken jars and bottles, but there is no payment. The Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corporation, 1221 East St. Andrews place, pays a penny per pound for broken or crushed glass, and buys back unbroken jars and bottles for ½-cent each. Broken glass must be weighed at a public scale and be accompanied by a certified weight ticket. The company accepts glass Tuesdays, Thursday, and Saturdays, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Soda pop and beer bottles are worth money if they meet specifications. Returnable soda bottles are worth five cents for the small size and 10 cents for the large ones. They may be returned to any store which sells the particular brand of soda pop. Coors distributors now buy back their unreturnable bottles for a penny each, or 36 cents for a case of 24.

Wine bottles from the Brookside Winery in Bonita and the Ferrara Winery may be returned for cash.

Most types of metals are easily recycled in this area. See the yellow pages under scrap metal for companies that buy copper, aluminum, iron, and steel. Aluminum cans, when cleaned and crushed, are worth 10 cents per pound. The Spring Valley Shopping Center has a collection point.

Ordinary "tin" cans cannot be sold anywhere in the county at this time, although there are collection centers in Los Angeles.

When disposing of poisons, don't put them down the drain or bury them in your yard. Poisons, which include mercury batteries such as those in watches or hearing aids, as well as old medicines and pesticides, should be taken to the County Department of Agriculture. Locations are at 510 E. Main, El Cajon, and 510 'G' st., Chula Vista.

Organic materials can be disposed of by burying in a deep hole or composting. Books on composting are available at the library.

Junk cars and large appliances that are no longer wanted can be taken to junk yards, used appliance stores, or sold through the want ads. To place an ad, phone 469-0101.

COUNTY PLAN WINS HONORS — William A. Craven, right, Chairman of San Diego County Board of Supervisors, accepts special achievement award from the National Association of Counties at a recent Milwaukee conference. Presenting award is Judge Conrad Fowler, past NACO president.
San Diego County was cited for its reorganization plan as a progressive development in County government. Basic purpose of new organization, which groups various County departments into eight major agencies is to make County government responsive to change, Craven said.

Kearney Mesa Mineral Museum Helps Teach About Natural Resources

"Where can I mine for gold? What's the difference between a mineral and a gem? What's the most abundant natural resource in San Diego County?"

These questions and others are answered daily by a San Diego County employee who knows just about everything there is to know about natural resources . . . and if she can't help, she finds someone else who can.

The lady to ask is Barbara Biewener of the County Agricultural Department where, among other jobs, she runs the mineral museum at the Kearny Mesa Operations Center, 5555 Overland ave.

"The museum didn't start out as a museum, it just grew," she says. "People would come in with rock samples for us to identify. You can't orally describe how certain kinds of minerals look and feel, so we accumulated some samples to show these people."

Most of the rock exhibits were collected by County employees, while others such as the Fletcher collection of tourmaline — a major semiprecious gem product of the County — were donated to the museum.

Many people wandering in to the museum inquire about opening a gold mine.

"We try to point out the problems of gold mining. So many of the mines are in such poor condition now and preparation of the mine, alone, is expensive. Sometimes a person must dig down 300 feet before any sizable amount is collected," she says.

"Even if one does find gold in marketable quantities, it may cost $70 to take out an ounce of gold worth $35," she adds.

Still many people prospect just for the thrill of finding gold.

Most of the gold-bearing areas are along the ridge running southeast from Julian to Banner; $8 million was taken from the Stonewall Mine in Cuyamaca State Park between 1908 and 1926.

But there are always other minerals to dig for — gravel and sand is worth $15 million a year in San Diego. Also underground are gems including ourmaline, blue topaz, beryl, and garnet.

Many who have pursued mining have made a fairly good living from it. Louis Spaulding of Ramona has been chipping away at the same mine for 50 years. Spaulding has donated some of his gems to the County museum — one is a spessartine garnet gem, an orange-colored matrix specimen.

"Although our department doesn't mine, we try to keep up on all information concerning natural resources in the county as a service to our citizens," Miss Biewener says.

Census Bureau Survey Planned Here Next Week

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce, will visit a number of households in this area next week to obtain information on employment here. Charles M. Long, Director of the Census Bureau office in Los Angeles, in making the announcement, said the households are among the 50,000 across the country that have been scientifically selected to represent a cross section of the American people.

The survey, which the Bureau conducts each month for the U. S. Department of Labor, provides a continuing measure of employment and unemployment for the Nation. For example, on a seasonally adjusted basis, the overall unemployment rate dropped from 5.2 percent in May to 5.6 percent in June. Total employment fell one-half million to 78.4 million, the same level as in March.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is confidential by law and results are used only to compile statistical totals in which no individual or household can be identified.

Fletcher Heads Wilson Fund-raiser

A $50-a-plate dinner for Pete Wilson's mayorality campaign will be held at 8 p.m. Friday at the Town & Country Hotel Convention Center.

Kim Fletcher, campaign chairman, said the dinner will be the major fund raising effort of the Wilson campaign before the Sept. 12 primary.

Wilson, a three-term assemblyman, will be the only speaker at the dinner.

"The format," said John McColl, dinner chairman, "will be fun rather than political oratory."

The dinner will be preceded by a no-host cocktail party in the California Room of the hotel's convention center.

Tarr Asks Exposition To Allow Mentally Retarded 4-H Group To Compete

The Grossmont Union High School District has applied to directors of the Southern California Exposition for a special dispensation knocking down chronological age limits in order to allow students from the District's special education program to participate in the junior category of livestock judging.

Don Tarr, assistant director, special education programs, made the request in a letter to Bill Dumond, in which he explained that students in the District's animal husbandry course for mentally retarded children would be participating in a special 4-H group, sponsored by the El Cajon 4-H Club.

"It would be to their benefit if they could be permitted to participate in the Eastern San Diego County Fair and the Southern California Exposition as 4-H Club members," Tarr said.

"In order for this to take place, it would be necessary for the county fair board to make an exception to the age limits which are placed on juniors participating in the competition," he said.

Tarr explained that he was asking special consideration only for a certain group of students whose mental age rarely exceeds nine years. Specifically, what he is requesting is that any young person who has been certified by a school psychologist to be either moderately or severely retarded, be permitted to participate in all phases of 4-H activities, including fair competition without regard to chronological age.

Tarr concluded his letter by offering to appear before the county board, along with the parents of one of the children to clarify the issue. He asked that some response be forthcoming by the end of September in order to plan next year's school program.

BIG BRUSH FIRE — The Lemon Grove Fire Department sent a 1000-gallon pumper to standby for the San Diego Fire Department at a large brush fire near College Grove Shopping Center last Thursday afternoon. The blaze, which started at about 2:30 p.m., blackened between ten and fifteen acres between Ryan rd. and Highway 94 just west of College Grove Way. Flames reaching heights of up to 20 feet sent smoke high into the air, visible from as far away as downtown San Diego. No structural damage was reported.

'Crusa-dears' To Assist With 1971 United Crusade

Feminity comes to the United Crusade this year as part of the overall "new look" with the addition of "Crusa-dears" who will be responsible for pre-campaign training in presenting and selling the United Crusade appeal.

In the East County area, Mrs. Victor S. Moore of Fletcher Hills has been named as Crusa-dears chairman. She is now recruiting ten women to work in pairs with United Crusade teams in El Cajon, La Mesa, Lemon Grove, Spring Valley, Lakeside, Santee, and Alpine.

At training sessions in each community, these Crusa-dears will motivate volunteers to personalize and localize the real importance of the United Crusade to their community when approaching potential givers. They will also train the volunteers in proven campaign techniques and direct them in the correct use of Crusade materials for a more sophisticated approach.

The Crusa-dears will work directly with community and division chairmen in training of campaigners, and will be available to speak at clubs and organizations on the United Crusade. They will not be responsible for any direct solicitation of funds.

Mrs. Moore, who heads the Crusa-dears, is currently treasurer of the Heartland YMCA. She is a member of the YMCA metropolitan finance committee, a member of United Community Services general budget committee, and on the Grossmont College president's advisory committee.

She also serves on the "People for People" executive board, and a member of the League of Women Voters.

New Students Must Receive Vaccinations

If your child is entering school for the first time in September, poliomyelitis and rubeola immunization are required.

For polio, youngsters may have taken three Salk-type vaccine inoculations, types I, II, and III monovalent oral vaccine, trivalent oral vaccine, or a combination of the monovalent and trivalent vaccines. Children may be exempted if their physicians state immunization is inadvisable for health reasons, or if their parents state that they do not believe in immunization.

Children may also meet requirements for measles immunization by submitting a statement from a physician or health agency that the youngsters have had the disease or have been properly immunized.

Unique Race Due Aug. 29

The Third Annual "Go-Fly-A-Kite-And-Sail-Race," the only annual event of its kind in the world, will be held in San Diego Bay off the tip of Harbor Island in San Diego August 29, starting at noon.

This unique nautical contest demands not only sailboat racing skills, but also ability to maintain a kite flying from each boat during the entire competition.

An official course will be laid out with the starting point at the tip of Shelter Island and the finish line at Marina Cortez at Harbor Island. Referee boats will monitor the race from points along the course. Boats will be handicapped according to size and each competing crew will receive the same type of kite before the race starts. Fifty-five boats, ranging in size from 15-foot dinghys to 50-foot yachts, entered the race last year.

Prizes will be awarded to the boats finishing with kites aloft. An award presentation and afterparty with refreshments will be held for all participating crew members following the race.

Spectators will be able to observe the unusual race from vantage points along the western tip of Harbor Island, where there is ample free parking and restaurant facilities.

Grossmont Pool To Stay Open Until Aug. 29

In an effort to make the unusually warm weather a little more bearable, Grossmont College will continue to make its swimming pool available to the general public seven days a week through August 29, from noon to 6 p.m.

Adults will be admitted for a fee of 50 cents, those under 16 years of age and Grossmont College students will pay 25 cents, while staff members will be admitted free. Those attending are asked to wear their swimming suits and bring towels. A lifeguard will be present for assistance.

New Ballet Planned

The California Ballet Company will premeire a new ballet Sunday in the Vacation Village Hotel and Ampitheatre as part of its continuing "Summer Dance Festival." The same program will be presented August 25. Programs start at 8 p.m.

Travel Cost Cut For Seniors Seen

WASHINGTON — Legislation to assist senior citizens in moving about town as well as across state lines has been co-signed by Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego.

The bill, written by Rep. James C. Corman, D-Van Nuys would cut rates for interstate travel by persons 65 and over, and also would assign preferential status to local transit authorities which have pioneered in reducing fares for the elderly.

The San Diego Transit Corp., which established special rates four years ago for senior citizens riding its buses, would probably qualify to receive aid under the Urban Mass Transportation Act ahead of systems which have not adopted reduced rate schedules, Van Deerlin said.

In San Diego, women 62 and over and men who are at least 65 can ride anywhere for 25 cents during non-rush hours. Other passengers pay a minimum of 40 cents for the first two zones plus 10 cents for each additional zone.

In a statement for the Congressional Record, Van Deerlin said about 10 percent of all San Diego Transit customers are senior citizens traveling at the special rate.

The Urban Mass Transportation Act is the basic federal program for aiding transit, and there is intense competition for the funds it provides.

The legislation also would allow people 65 and over to travel in interstate commerce on planes, buses and trains during non-peak periods for half fare. Unlike the existing system of airline youth fares, senior citizens would be able to make seat reservations and not have to travel on a space available basis.

The bill was sent to the House Commerce Committee, on which Van Deerlin serves.

The San Diego lawmaker said the provisions should actually increase revenues of carriers, by generating new business during otherwise slack periods. But he noted there is also a provision for the relief of common carriers which can show they have suffered losses as a direct result of cutting tariffs for the elderly.

Glazebrook Gets Degree

William Glazebrook, of 444 Grand ave., Spring Valley, was among 951 students who completed work on degrees this month at the University of Iowa.

Glazebrook, who majored in music, received his master of arts degree. Although no commencement exercises were held for the students, they will be invited to participate in commencement exercises during the spring semester.

Evening Courses Set At Monte Vista High

Grossmont Community College will again offer four evening courses for college credit at Monte Vista High School this fall, it was announced last week.

Courses will include mathematics 110, a brief review and expansion of algebra; business law 125, teaching principles of business law and application to cases involving business transactions; history 141, a continuation of the history of the western civilization from early modern times to the present; and English 299, a course on novel and short story writing.

The first course, which will meet Monday nights from 7 to 9 p.m. in room 209 at Monte Vista, is designed for those who have a knowledge of beginning algebra or students who had two years of high school algebra but have not used it for several years. Four units of credit will be given for the class, which will hold its first meeting September 13.

The business law class, meeting Tuesday evenings in room 209 from 7 to 10 p.m., will include teaching in actual cases involving contracts, sales, and agency. Seth J. Carpenter will be the instructor for the three unit course, which will meet for the first time September 7.

Meeting Wednesday evenings from 7 to 10 p.m. in room 209 will be the history class taught by Joseph W. Woods. The three-unit course will emphasize relationships and trends in the historical process. The first meeting will be September 8.

Robert E. Moore will be the instructor of the english class which will cover the writing of fiction of all lengths. Rewriting, techniques and workmanship in writing will be taught. The three unit course will hold its initial meeting September 9 and will meet each Thursday evening from 7 to 10 p.m. in room 209.

The classes are open to any high school graduate or person over 18 years of age who can benefit from them. All application will take place September 2 in room 209, from 6:30 to 8:15 p.m.

A $1 mandatory student health insurance fee will be charged for all students, and students must purchase any textbooks required. Textbooks will be available on the evening of the first meeting for each class.

Fighter Aces Visit Naval Air Station

Helicopter demonstrations and a luncheon, both at the Naval Air Station, Imperial Beach last week, highlighted part of the American Fighter Aces Association meeting in San Diego.

Twenty Japanese aces in the group, members of the Japanese Zero Pilots Association, arrived in San Diego last Tuesday morning to join their American counterparts. The four-day meeting started last Thursday at the Miramar Naval Air Station, known appropriately as "Fighter Town U.S.A."

Friday marked the second time Saburo Sakai, head of the Japanese deligation, met with members of Helicopter Combat Support Squadron Seven. He was the Squadron's special guest at a "Dining in" when they were permanently assigned to the Naval Air Station, Atsugi, Japan. HC-7 left Japan for reassignment to Imperial Beach last May.

The visitors were treated to a full briefing on operations of the SH3-A "Sea King" and HH2-C "Sea Sprite" helicopters, both operated by HC-7. Many of the aces compared notes on the values of helicopters as part of today's military air arm — a plane that was not part of their equipment during World War II.

Following their visit to the HC-7 hangar, the aces and other members of the host squadron moved to the Imperial Beach Officer's Club for lunch and more discussions of the "flying days."

'Ten Simple Steps In Fighting Smog'

For those ecology-minded residents of the area, The Driver's Digest, a radio series heard throughout Southern California, has compiled the "Ten Simple Steps Against Smog." They are:

"1) You can resolve to keep your car in good running order. Dirty carburetors, clogged air filters, and worn spark plugs and ignition points not only waste gas and rob you of performance, they also contribute to the air pollution problem.

"2) You can have your smog device serviced regularly. Smog devices can do their intended job, but only if you take the responsibility of seeing that they remain in working order.

"3) Drive skillfully and smoothly. Your car produces far more smog when it's constantly accelerating and decelerating than when it's driven steadily. Jackrabbit starts and stops and unnecessary gunning and breaking add considerably to the pollution pall.

"4) Do cry over spilled gasoline. Remind your service station attendant not to overfill your tank. And when your tank is full, avoid parking on a slope sharp enough to cause an overflow. Accidental spillage of raw gasoline is a surprisingly substantial source of smog.

"5) This week, take a friend, or if possible, ride the bus to work. At peak ours, most cars on freeways still have only one occupant.

"6) If your late model car will run efficiently on no-lead or low-lead gasoline, always choose them in preference to the leaded types.

"7) If you own a 1970 or older car, prepare yourself for the possibility of having your car fitted with an oxides of nitrogen control device to reduce one of today's most troublesome smog ingredients. 1971 cars are produced with oxides of nitrogen control devices.

"8) Personalize your license plates. Your name or initials or other identification on your license plates will cost you a little extra money. But it's extra money that goes principally toward essential smog research, a program now heavily funded by highway-user taxes.

"9) Remember that pollution can begin at home. While motor vehicles are a major source of air pollution, in some areas inefficient home heaters uncontrolled burning of trash, and excessive use of combuustible products still contribute to the problem.

"10) Learn all you can about air pollution, its causes, effects, and probable cures. To aid in this final point, the Southern California Auto Club has compiled the "Smog Fighters Dictionary" to help understand the language of the field. The dictionary is free and can be obtained by sending a post card or letter with your return address to "The Smog Fighters Dictionary," Public Relations Dilvision, Auto Club of Southern California, 2601 South Figueroa st., Los Angeles 90007.

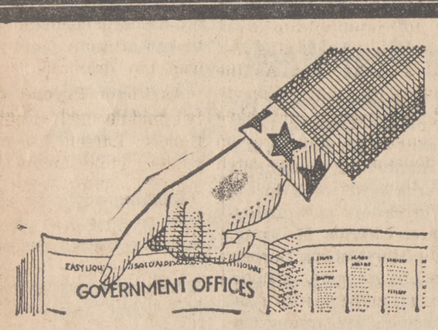
Linda Morton Is Graduate

Linda Morton, of Lemon Grove, was among 43 men and women graduating from Oklahoma Christian College, Oklahoma, in ceremonies August 6.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stout, 2728 Corona, Lemon Grove, Mrs. Morton received a bachelor of science in education degree with a major in elementary education.

Commencement speaker for the occasion was Mrs. Frederick Frelinghuysen, the First Regent of Gunston Hall in Virginia. Dr. James O. Baird, President of OCC, conferred degrees.

THE PHONE BOOTH



To make it easier for you to find phone numbers for government offices, now there's a quick reference page in the Yellow Pages. Under "G" for "Government Offices" you'll find listings for important city, county, state and federal offices. Because there are so many different government bureaus, departments and agencies, we thought it would be helpful to put the numbers that are most frequently called all together in one place. So now your fingers can do the walking through government offices in the Yellow Pages too.

If you have children, teaching them the proper use of the phone takes only a minute or two and may prove to be very worthwhile. When small children play with the phone, they sometimes leave the receiver off the hook, which may cause you to lose incoming calls. Then as soon as they're old enough, it's a good idea to teach them how to dial "zero" for the Operator in an emergency.

Dr. Steve Arlin Operates For Dr. Ben Casey as Padres Get Jeter, Acosta

Buzzie Bavasi was well on his way to running a top-flight hospital Thursday night.

He had Dr. Steve Arlin masterfully pitching a shutout against the Mets and he had Dr. Ben Casey watching the game from a box on the press level.

Buzzie was remindful of a hospital chief-of-staff looking down into the operating theatre watching his fine, young doctor performing a brain dichotomy on the hapless New Yorkers. He was a man in a trance. The score: 3-0.

But female fans were more easily distracted than Buzzie. They craned necks trying to locate Vince Edwards who was tucked away in Arnolt Smith's box with some friends who had invaded Del Mar earlier that day. The race day had not been too fruitful as a winning one but it was a whiz of a game.

Dr. Ben said he didn't want to make a public appearance; that he'd just come to the stadium to relax from a movie assignment. Some of the gals were still grumbling about not seeing Dr. Casey as the stadium was emptying.

And there were more goodies to come later in the season but they were non-medical — unless two new acquisitions coming from the Pittsburgh Pirates could strengthen the Padres to pennant-contending health next year. On Monday of this week, the Padres announced that they had taken title to outfielder John Jeter and pitcher Ed Acosta in exchange for Padre pitcher Bob Miller. Miller was traded on August 10 and joined the Pirates Aug. 12. Acosta and Jeter were not named until waivers had been cleared by the Pittsburgh club.

Jeter, 26, is on the Charleston club and through games of Aug. 13 batted .327. He leads the International League in hits (142) and in stolen bases (31).

The right-hand hitting Jeter was with the Pirates the entire 1970 season when he batted .238 in 85 games. The 6-1, 180-pound speedster has a major league batting average of .252.

Acosta, 27, is a right-hand pitcher who with Charleston this season has a 11-11 record while leading the International League with a 2.76 earned run average. He has nine complete games in 25 starts.

The 6-5, 215-pound Acosta pitched in three games with the Pirates last year without a decision but gained a save in relief.

"Jeter is an outstanding outfielder, a fine defensive player with exceptional speed and the type of hitter who can provide balance to our attack," said general manager Eddie Leishman.

"Acosta is a strong, durable type of pitcher who has fine control and may be used as either a starter or in relief."

In 26 games this season Acosta struck out 107 while walking only 43.

Acosta is to join the Padres in New York when the team opens a long road trip with a series against the Mets starting Friday.

Under the agreement of the trade, the Padres have given the Charleston club permission to retain Jeter until the International League playoffs are concluded, probably around the first week in September.

Sorrento Stakes, Cabrillo Handicap On Del Mar Menu

DEL MAR — Luminaries from the West's top handicap division will be spotlighted at Del Mar Saturday in the sixth running of the $25,000 added Cabrillo Handicap, a stern test over the Crosby course, 60 feet less than a mile and one-quarter.

This major hurdle prior to the rich Del Mar Handicap on September 11 will share attention of turf enthusiasts with the famed yearling sales, sponsored by the California Thoroughbred Breeders Association. Staged for the 18th consecutive year, the sales will be presented Sunday and Monday evenings, beginning promptly at 7:30 p.m. Some 160 head of the finest thoroughbreds in the West are expected to change hands at the two night auction.

The Cabrillo has lured 13 nominations and includes H. T. Sheridan's Over The Counter, upset winner of the two-mile Sunset Handicap on closing day at Hollywood Park, and Burt Bacharach's vastly-improved Advance Guard, high-weighted winner of the recent San Diego Handicap here.

Friday's Del Mar fare will bring out a fancy field of two-year-old fillies in the six furlong Sorrento Stakes. Many of the expected runners in the Del Mar Debutante on Labor Day, including My Lady Bug, will go postward in the Sorrento.

SWC Seeks Housing For Fall Students

Assisting students find suitable housing for the coming school year is again facing Southwestern College student activities office, according to Wayne L. Allen, Dean of Student Activities and Community Services.

"Rooms, as well as small apartments are in particular demand as many of our students are self-supporting, many are married," Allen explained. "We try to help them by providing a list of available housing in our district."

The college offers this service to students in good standing, although he emphasized that the college cannot accept any tenant responsibility.

Price is the determining factor, as students who work while attending Southwestern are usually on a limited budget, as full-time employment is extremely difficult for full-time college students.

"Location is not as important as having a clean, quiet place to study," continued Allen.

Anyone wishing to rent a room in their home or a small apartment, may contact the ASO Finance Office and be placed on the college housing list. The office is open daily from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Chargers at Candlestick Park; Game Televised Over Ch. 39

It's been 10 years since the San Diego Chargers played in San Francisco at Candlestick Park. The Chargers return to the Ballpark-by-the-Bay Sunday to face John Brodie and the San Francisco 49ers in a pre-season game at 1 p.m.

On Oct. 22, 1961, San Diego beat Oakland, 41-10, at Candlestick before 12,014, top home crowd of that year for the Raiders. In 1971, the game is expected to attract a crowd near the present capacity of 40,000.

Bob Chandler and Al Wester will telecast the action to San Diego on KCST-39; Stu Nahan and Ralph Lawler will broadcast on KDEO and the Charger radio network.

Whether a visit to delightful San Francisco will be a treat or a treatment is the question for the Chargers. National Football Conference runnerups in 1970, the 49ers of Coach Dick Nolan are prime title contenders this year. They beat Cleveland, 38-24, and tied with Miami, 17-17, in their first two pre-season games.

A pleasant and encouraging summer for the Chargers was interrupted last Saturday night by the Purple Gang from Minnesota. The Vikings whipped the Chargers, 34-7, before 49,267 at San Diego Stadium. San Diego had defeated Washington, 19-10, in its opener.

Coach Sid Gillman believes the Chargers will benefit from the loss to Minnesota. "We have the type of kids who will learn from misfortune. This is a learning game. Pre-season is the time to learn."

Thus lessons should be long this week on the subjects of pass defense and pass protection. Viking quarterback Norm Snead riddled the San Diego secondary with passes to his running backs. The "Purple People Eaters" sacked John Hadl four times.

There were bright spots for the Chargers. Hadl completed 13 of 17 passes and led his team on an 85-yard touchdown drive in the first quarter against the heralded enemy defense. Rookie receiver Billy Parks continued to sparkle with four catches for 63 yards. Gary Garrison also caught four and scored his third touchdown of the year. Mike Garret ran for 42 yards.

Against San Francisco, the Chargers will have to cope with the passing of NFL "MVP" Brodie and his all-pro receiver, Gene Washington. The 49ers are enthused by the play of two new running backs, Vic Washington from Canada and rookie Joe Orduna from Nebraska.

San Diego and San Francisco have played once before. The Chargers won, 30-18, at San Diego in pre-season 1968. After Sunday's game, the Chargers return home to face the New Orleans Saints on Saturday night, Aug. 28.

Sea World Aids S.D. Blind Center

A contribution of $100 was made to the San Diego Blind Recreation Center when Sea World made its third "Pennies from Ponds" presentation Tuesday at the Mission Bay marine park.

Sea World's "Max, the Sea Lion," a seven-foot animal character, presented the donation to Mrs. Jeannie Adams, a volunteer for the local blind recreational and educational facility.

Mrs. Adams said that the donation would be used to refurbish many of the braille textbooks which are used to instruct students at the blind center.

"Pennies from Ponds" are collected regularly at Sea World, where visiting well-wishers have thrown thousands of coins into the pools and fountains. Each month, the coins collected are donated to a local fund-raising effort.

Tourney Team Needs Money For Journey

The Heartland Girls' Softball League announced this week that it is in need of funds to send its all-star team to the state tournament in Bell Gardens the week of August 30.

The team, which consists of young ladies, ages 16 to 19, from Spring Valley and La Mesa, earned the right to go to the Southern California Municipal Athletic Federation's tourney by beating an all-star crew from Escondido, 16-2, and edging a second all star team from the Heartland League.

After the completion of the regular season, the league picked all star teams from the western and eastern divisions and entered them in the county tournament.

Next year, the league plans to expand to twelve teams, including two in Spring Valley and one in Lemon Grove. This year teams were fielded from Spring Valley, Casa de Oro, El Cajon, Santee, and Lakeside.

SDG&E Tells Dividends On Preferred Stock

The San Diego Gas & Electric Company Board of Directors today declared dividends on the firm's prefered stock one month early.

Per share dividends payable October 15 to shareholders of record September 30 are: 25 cents on the five percent series; 23 cents on the 4.60 percent series; 22½ cents on the 4½ percent series; 22 cents on the 4.40 percent series; $2.46 on the $9.84 preference; and $1.95 on the $7.80 preference.

The dividends were declared early since the next regular scheduled meeting September 20 would have left insufficient time to meet American Stock Exchange notification requirements.

The Board will act on the common stock at its September meeting.

Social Work Classes Planned At Southwestern

"The new Human services department at Southwestern College will be in full swing this fall with the innovation of a social work program, which is designed to prepare persons for employment as paraprofessionals," said Vince Alfaro, Dean of Applied Arts & Sciences.

Anyone interested in employment in poverty programs, neighborhood centers, children and youth services, family counseling, mental health programs, drug abuse or rehabilitation programs and many more, will benefit by enrolling in social work courses.

"Anyone already performing paraprofessional social work is especially encouraged to increase their skills and gain college credit by enrolling in the program," Alfaro continued.

Courses offered under the social work program will include "introduction to social welfare," "community services & resources," "interviewing and counseling," "group leadership skills," and "social work internship."

For further information regarding registering call the admissions office at Southwestern College. The office is open Monday through Thursday from 7:45 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Friday from 7:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Osborne Wins Main Event As Hitt Falls To Eighth

With just seven racing dates left on the Cajon Speedway super stock schedule, "Gentleman" Jim Hitt, of Lemon Grove, still leads all drivers in the points race with 3,095, four hundred ahead of second place Tex Kimbrell, of Imperial Beach.

Hitt, who also leads with the most main event victories with seven checkered flags, remains the favorite although he has not tasted victory for the last three weeks.

Last Saturday night, the local driver had his machine in top shape, setting the fastest qualifying time. Hard luck in the main event helped the winner's circle elude him.

After starting far back in the pack, Hitt worked his way up to sixth place, but as he came out of the third turn his vehicle brushed with that of John Dineen and the ensuing spinout sent him to the back of the pack.

Hitt, as the main event came to a close, still managed to push his machine back up to eighth place.

Taking the checkered flag Saturday night was Jim Osborne, of Brookside, who made it his second main event in as many weeks, and vaulted into seventh place in the point standings.

Bucky Peralta, of El Cajon, starting on the pole position, held the lead for the first 14 laps. Osborne, riding easily in fourth place, got his break when Hitt spun out, charging to the front.

As the race continued, Osborne kept the pressure on his pursuers, drawing steadily away from the pack until the finish.

Another local driver, Pat McIntyre, of Spring Valley, moved up in the point standings by finishing third behind Osborne and Tex Kimbrell. Rounding out the top five were Mark Sahl and Russ Bullen.

On the agenda this Saturday are super stocks, limited stocks, and powder puff racing. Hitt will be out to top the field in the super stock main, while Bonita's Bob Harris seeks to repeat in the limited stocks and Joy Swentkofske gives chase to Gloria Stahl in the powder puff action.

Qualifying for all racers will start at 6:30 p.m., with the first race scheduled for 8 p.m.

Three Dog Night Due Aug. 29

Three Dog Night, one of the most popular rock groups to have appeared in San Diego, headlines a live concert scheduled for August 29 at the San Diego International Sports Arena.

Also appearing on stage for the 8 p.m. affair will be a new group from West Africa, Osibisa.

Three Dog Night, featuring three lead singers, are a versatile group, able to come up with sounds that include gospel, British rock, and "city" rock-blues.

Lead singers are Cory Wells, Danny Hutton, and Chuck Negron. Handling the instrumental chores are Mike Allsup, lead guitar; Joe Schermie, bass; Jim Greenspoon, piano and organ; and Floyd Sneed, drums.

The group's current hits include "Easy to be Hard," "Eli's Coming," and "Joy to the World."

Osibisa, a group consisting of four West Africans and three West Indians, produces sounds reflecting black calypso and a multitude of rhythms. The group depends a great deal on audience participation for its success.

Tickets to the concert are $4, $5, and $6 and are available at all Sneaker Inns, Bill Gamble Men's Stores, Central Ticket Agencies, and the Sports Arena Box Office.

La Mesa Gets Collegiate Loop Championship

The La Mesa Collegians, despite finishing the year by dropping five of eight games, took home the California Collegiate crown last weekend.

The Collegians, who posted a 28-14 overall record, won three and lost five over the last two weeks of the season after sewing up the title.

The last official statistics received indicated that two Collegians, John Helfrick and Mike Coronado, were in the top five in batting. and four Collegians, Dale Davis, Chuck Hendrix, Larry Sweat, and Larry Luxenburg, were in the top ten pitchers.

Helfrick was third in batting with a .372 average, while Coronado was in fourth with a .364 average. Davis was the leading pitcher with a 1.59 earned run average, while Hendrix was second with a 1.64 mark, Sweat was fifth with 2.11 average, and Luxenburg was eighth with a 2.25 average.

Luxenburg also was tied for the league league in wins with six.

Mike Coronado led the league in total bases with 73, while Danny Coronado was tied for the lead in triples with five.

'Private Lives' Opens At Mission Playhouse

By Lee Sinclair

Mission Playhouse's summer offering on Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30 p.m. is Noel Coward's perennial favorite, "Private Lives."

Although written almost 40 years ago, the battle between the sexes from the 30's to the 70's hasn't changed much if the appreciative chuckles of the opening night audience are any indication of the situation.

Elyot Chase and Amanda Prynne were married for three years, but because of their inability to communicate without it leading to bickering and blows, were divorced. As the play opens they have been divorced five years and have both remarried and are on their honeymoons. The catch is that they are in adjoining hotel suites!

Sybil and Victor, the respective new spouses, are in direct contrast to the bold, independent, witty and colorful personalities of Elyot and Amanda. When Amanda and Elyot discover the situation, both try to persuade their new partners to leave for Paris immediately, with no success.

However, the flame is again aroused when they see each other and they decide to leave Sybil and Victor and run off to Paris together. After making a vow to keep silent for two minutes after saying the code word "Solace" if either one finds the verbal banter ing getting too rough, the second act curtain finds them on the floor, scratching, biting, screaming and brawling, in spite of vows when Victor and Sybil walk in!

Jim Lakin as Elyot was quick, witty and appealing in the role Noel Coward originally wrote for himself. In the role of Amanda, Mimi Allison looked attractive, but at times was too dramatic.

As Victor Prynne, the stuffy middle-aged Englishman, Robert Larsen seemed too young, while Jacqueline Covington's Sibyl was properly feminine. It was too bad that the entire cast didn't have Miss Covington's accent.

Kathy Craig played the French maid and performed her bit quite admirably, since all her lines were in French.

'Little Eden' Is Produce Shop

"Little Eden Garden Fresh Produce," is the name of a new fruit and vegetable business recently opened at 1177 Sweetwater rd., near the Post Office. Owners and operators are Mr. and Mrs. Allen Oftedahl. Allen was employed for many years as vegetable manager in various super markets and his wife, Carol, has been employed in the San Diego City School system.

"Little Eden" is open seven days a week from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m., carrying a full line of fruits and vegetables, plus a few organic vegetables, when available. Also available are organic fruit juices, honey and jams.

Youth Sentenced To 10-Year Term

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — A Spring Valley youth, Graig Leonard Swanson, 19, of 10770 Jamacha blvd., will spend up to 10 years in custody of the California Youth Authority following conviction on a theft charge.

He was arrested last March trying to sell a large quantity of copper wire stolen from construction firms in the 1100 block on Sweetwater rd.

Superior Court Judge R. O. Staniforth Friday set the sentence after Swanson pleaded guilty, but ordered him sent to Chino for diagnostic study first.

'Rumpelstiltskin' Planned Friday, Saturday, Sunday

By Lynn Jones

The Puppet Playhouse will present "Rumpelstiltskin" as a "western" this weekend in the Balboa Park Puppet Theater at 1:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m.

Miss Pat Platt had adapted the traditional story of the little man who could spin gold from straw into a western type setting. The show can be seen Friday through Sunday.

The San Diego Guild of Puppetry is sponsoring "Rumpelstiltskin" as a part of the summer series of puppet plays.

Two English groups. Savoy Brown and the Atomic Rooster, will appear Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Sports Arena.

Of the two bands, Savoy Brown has been around the longer.

After the rock group Crazy World, broke up Crane and Palmer put the first Rooster together with Nick Graham on bass. They recorded one album and were unhappy with it.

Graham and Palmer left the trio and Crane put together a second Rooster with John Cann on guitar and Paul Hammond on drums. They made two albums and are now going to appear in San Diego.

Heard any gnawing noises outside your door? Don't be shocked; it may only be "Willard" with his rat friends coming for some fun.

Willard is a young man who lives at home with his ailing mother and who is surrounded with advice-giving relatives and friends. He works at a firm that was once his father's, only because his tyrannical boss promised Willard's mother.

Later, Willard's mother wants him to get rid of the rats in the yard. Just as Willard is about to drown the rats he discovers that he can't do it. He is drawn to them and seems to have a special talent in training them.

Now, the Willard who had no friends, has thousands of friends who will do anything he wants them to. There seems to be no way of escaping Willard's wishes; or is it the rats' wishes?

Bruce Davison does a great job in the portrayal of "Willard," the humble young man. Ernest Borgnine plays the scheming tyrant of a boss and fits the part perfectly. Other members of the cast are Sondra Locke and Elsa Lancaster.

The show can be seen at the Cinema Grossmont in the Grossmont Shopping Center at 1:30, 5 and 8:30 p..m. "Wait Until Dark" is the co-hit. It can be seen at 3, 6:30 and 10 p.m. For more information call 465-7100. The show can also be seen at the Frontier Drive-in at 3601 Midway Dr. The show opens at 7:30. "The House That Dripped Blood" is the co-hit. All three shows are rated GP.

Registration Urged As Soon As Possible

Counselors are busy these days at Southwestern College pre-programming and helping prospective students who have applied for admission in the fall semester.

Lloyd R. Cassady, Dean of Admissions and Guidance cautioned prospective students to apply for registration as soon as possible, in order to get all necessary forms completed before the August 27 deadline.

"Everyone is required to fill out an application form and furnish transcripts prior to actual registration," he said. "Night students in particular should apply during August in order to take advantage of wider selections of course offerings.

CIRCUS LIB? — Karen Feld, left, publicity coordinator for Ringling Bros.-Barnum and Bailey circus, coming to the San Diego Sports Arena Sept. 14-19, shows newest program to Lana Holder.
Miss Feld, a 23 year-old beauty, is said to be the first female publicity chief for a major circus. Miss Holder runs the business office of this newspaper.
Miss Feld said circuses are hiring more women than ever before and that the performer's average age has dropped from 46 to 23. Girl clowns provide the greatest increase in employment totals, she said.
At the Clown College in Venice, Fla., about 35 clowns are placed out of the 1,500 students. Many of these are girls, she said. Professional actresses do not make good clowns. Girls with definite personalities are preferable, she said.
The 1971 version of "Greatest Show on Earth" will be at the Sports Arena Sept. 14-19 presenting 3 rings, 33 displays made up of performers from 23 countries over a 250 minute period.

'King and I' Sets Final Performance

Tonight through Sunday will mark the final performances of United States International University's Starlight Musicals at the Zoo productions of Rodgers and Hammerstein's tuneful musical-drama, "The King and I" in Wegeforth Bowl in the San Diego Zoo.

The first week's run was highlighted by favorable reviews and record-breaking and enthusiastic audiences. Magnificent singing, stirring acting and delightful dancing were the most frequent descriptions used by patrons and critics alike.

Starring as Anna, the English widow hired by the ruler of Siam to introduce his large brood of royal children to European ways, is Shani Wallis, who achieved stardom with her recent poignant portrayal of Nancy in the motion picture version of "Oliver!"

William Chapman stars in the role of the King of Siam. He has sung musical comedy and opera in New York and on Broadway and is himself a teacher of classical singing.

Tickets for "The King and I" can be purchased at the Starlight Musicals at the Zoo box office, 1601 Third ave., from 9:15 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. daily and noon to 5:15 p.m. Sunday, or by phoning 232-2136. Tickets can also be purchased at all Highlander Men's Stores and Metro-Ticketron agencies. On performance nights, tickets can be purchased at the Zoo box office after 7:30 p.m.

LEGAL NOTICES

ORDINANCE NO. 3732 (NEW SERIES)
AN INTERIM ZONING ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING ZONING REGULATIONS GOVERNING A PORTION OF THE LEMON GROVE AREA; ADOPTING, BY REFERENCE, PROVISIONS OF THE ZONING ORDINANCE (ORDINANCE NO. 1402 (NEW SERIES), AS AMENDED) AS APPLICABLE THERETO; PROVIDING A LEGAL DESCRIPTION OF SAID AREA AND THE ZONE THEREIN; AND PROVIDING FOR THE ENFORCEMENT THEREOF AND PRESCRIBING PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION THEREOF.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of San Diego do ordain as follows:

Section 1. The Board of Supervisors finds as follows:

(a) The Lemon Grove area of San Diego County was originally zoned in 1942.

(b) Most of the properties within the Lemon Grove area have developed to a zoning pattern different from that contemplated in the zoning regulations which were adopted in 1942.

(c) Although most of the residential property located in the Lemon Grove area is zoned R-2-A, almost all of said property which has been developed has developed to an R-1-A density.

(d) Since the enactment of the zoning regulations applicable to the Lemon Grove area, changed circumstances in that area and the pattern of development of the area have indicated a necessity for adoption of modified zoning regulations.

(e) The County Planning Commission and the Department of Planning are considering and studying a contemplated zoning proposal for the Lemon Grove area.

(f) It is necessary to protect the public safety, health and welfare that this ordinance be adopted as an urgency measure to prohibit any uses which may be in conflict with said contemplated zoning proposal.

Section 2. The land and area subject to the regulations established by this Ordinance are situated in the unincorporated territory of the County of San Diego, State of California, and are delineated on the map entitled "Interim Zoning Ordinance No. 3732 (New Series), Lemon Grove Area, San Diego County, California," consisting of one sheet. Said map is hereby adopted as a part of this ordinance and is on file in the office of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors.

Section 3. ZONES. In order to classify, regulate, restrict and segregate the uses of lands and buildings within the area referred to in Section 2 of this Ordinance, to regulate and restrict the height and bulk of buildings therein, to regulate the area of yards and other open spaces about buildings therein, and to regulate the area of lots and parcels of land and the density of population therein, one (1) zone classification is by this Ordinance established, to be known as follows: R-1-A Residence Zone, hereinafter designated R-1-A Zone.

Section 4. The location and boundary of the R-1-A zone are hereby established as shown on the map referred to in Section 2 of this Ordinance. The land and area referred to in said Section 2 are hereby classified and zoned as stated.

Section 5. "The Zoning Ordinance" Defined. The term "The Zoning Ordinance," as used in this Ordinance, shall mean Ordinance No. 1402 (New Series), of the County of San Diego and all amendments thereto heretofore or hereafter adopted.

Section 6. REGULATIONS. For the purpose of establishing the regulations applicable to the land and area referred to in Section 2 of this Ordinance and the zone referred to in Section 3 of this Ordinance, the following regulations of the Zoning Ordinance applicable to the R-1-A Zone, referred to in the Zoning Ordinance, are hereby adopted as a part of this Ordinance and shall be applicable to the R-1-A Zone, specified in this Ordinance:

1. All of Article II (Definitions).
2. Sections 146 to 149, inclusive, and Section 149.1.
3. All of Article XI A (R-1-A Zone Regulations).
4. All of Article XXVIII-A (Off Street Parking and Loading).
5. All of Article XXIX (Unclassified and Special Use Regulations).
6. All of Article XXX (General Provisions, Conditions and Exceptions).
7. Article XXXI (Variances).
8. All those portions of Article XXXIII (General Procedure Provisions) Applicable to Variances or Special Use Permits.
9. Section 850 (Interpretation—Conflict of Provisions).

It is the intent of this Ordinance that the land and area subject to the provisions of this Ordinance shall not be used and no building or structure shall be erected, constructed, moved, altered, enlarged or rebuilt in any manner that would be contrary to the provisions of The Zoning Ordinance had such land and area been classified and zoned pursuant to and adopted as a part of The Zoning Ordinance.

Section 7. LIMITATION OF LAND USE. No building or structure shall be erected and no existing building or structure shall be moved, altered, added to or enlarged, nor shall any land, building, structure, or premises be used for any purpose or in any manner other than is permitted in the zone in which such land, building, structure, or premises are located and by the provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 8. LIMITATION OF HEIGHT. No building or structure shall be erected, reconstructed or structurally altered to exceed in height the limits established by the provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 9. BUILDING SITE, AREA AND YARD REQUIREMENTS. No building or structure shall be erected, nor shall any existing building or structure be moved, altered, enlarged or rebuilt so as to reduce or encroach upon in any manner any open spaces surrounding any buildings, except in conformity with the provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 10. SEPARATE YARDS REQUIRED. No yard or other open space provided about any building or structure for the purpose of complying with the requirements of this Ordinance shall be considered as providing a yard or open space for any other building or structure.

Section 11. BUILDING SITE AND LOT REQUIREMENTS. No building or structure shall be erected, moved, altered, enlarged or rebuilt unless such building or structure is located upon a lot or building site that conforms with the provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 12. COMPLETION OF EXISTING BUILDINGS. Nothing herein contained shall require any change in the plans, construction or designated use of a building or structure for which a building permit has been issued prior to the effective date of this Ordinance or any amendment thereof, provided that actual construction of such building or structure is commenced within 60 days after the date of issuance of the building permit and is completed within one year from the effective date of this ordinance and provided further that such construction and proposed use of such building or structure is not on said effective date in violation of any other ordinance or law.

Actual construction is hereby defined to be the actual placing of construction materials in their permanent position fastened in a permanent manner, except that where a basement is being excavated such excavating shall be deemed to be actual construction or where demolition or removal of any existing structure has been begun preparatory to rebuilding, such demolition or removal shall be deemed to be actual construction.

Section 13. VARIANCES AND SPECIAL USE PERMITS. Applications for variances and special use permits shall be made, considered, granted or denied as set forth in Article XXXI of The Zoning Ordinance adopted as a part of this Ordinance.

Section 14. SEVERABILITY. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause, or phrase of this Ordinance is, for any reason, held to be invalid or unconstitutional, such invalidity or unconstitutionality shall not affect the validity or constitutionality of the remaining portions of this Ordinance, it being hereby expressly declared that this Ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause, and phrase hereof would have been prepared, proposed, adopted, approved, and ratified irrespective of the fact that any one or more other sections, subsections, sentences, clauses, or phrases be declared invalid or unconstitutional.

Section 15. ENFORCEMENT. It shall be the duty of the Director of Building Inspection of the County of San Diego to review all applications for building permits. Each application for a permit to construct a building or structure filed with the Director of Building Inspection shall be checked by him for compliance with this Ordinance. The Director of Building Inspection shall not issue any permit for the erection, construction, reconstruction, installation, and enlargement, or authorize any construction, repairs or improvements which would violate this Ordinance.

It shall be the duty of the Director of Planning of the County of San Diego to enforce all provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 16. PENALTY. Any person, firm or corporation, whether as principal, agent, employeee or otherwise, violating any provision of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punishable by a fine of not more than Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) or by imprisonment in the County Jail for a period of not more than six (6) months or by both such fine and imprisonment. Such person, firm, or corporation shall be deemed guilty of a separate offense for every day during any portion of which any violation of this Ordinance is committed, continued or permitted by such person, firm or corporation, and shall be punishable as herein provided.

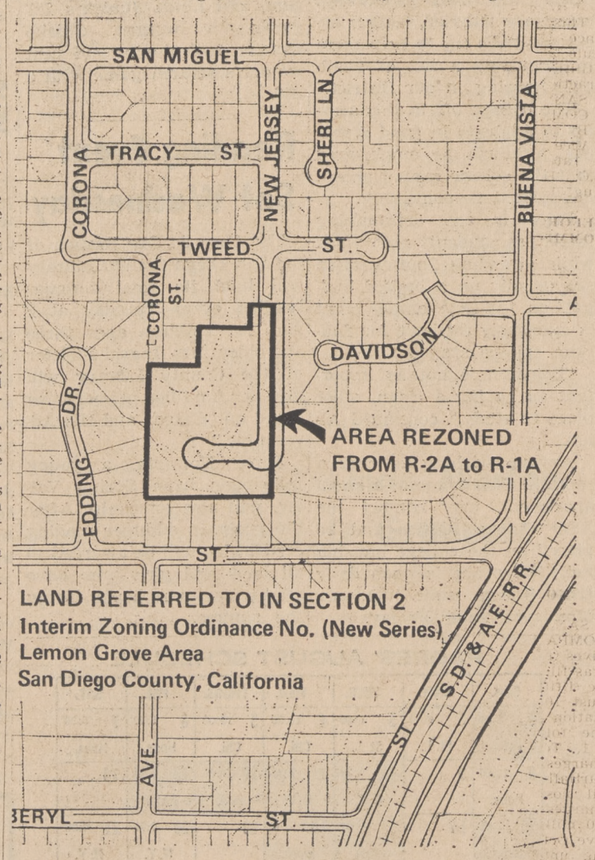
Section 17. NUISANCE. Any building or structure erected, constructed, altered or maintained and/or any use of property contrary to the provisions of this Ordinance is hereby declared unlawful and a public nuisance and the County Counsel shall, upon order of the Board of Supervisors, immediately commence necessary procedures for the abatement, removal and/or enjoyment thereof in the manner provided by law.

All remedies provided for herein shall be cumulative and not exclusive.

Section 18. EMERGENCY MEASURE. This ordinance is declared to be an ordinance necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of Section 3751 of the Elections Code and shall take effect immediately. The facts constituting such necessity are as follows:

The Planning Commission and the Department of Planning of the County of San Diego are considering and studying a contemplated zoning proposal for the Lemon Grove area. To protect the public safety, health and welfare it is necessary that this ordinance take effect immediately thereby prohibiting any uses which may be in conflict with the contemplated zoning proposal. This urgency is particularly apparent since a tentative map has been filed on this property which if finalized would be in direct conflict with the contemplated zoning proposal and would set precedents for similar developments in the Lemon Grove area.

Section 19. EFFECTIVE DATE. EXPIRATION DATE. This ordinance shall be in force and effect from and after its passage for a period of ninety (90) days and before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after its passage shall be published once, with the names of the members voting for and against the same, in the Lemon Grove Review, a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of San Diego.



PASSED, APPROVED, AND ADOPTED this 10th day of August,, 1971.

WILLIAM A. CRAVEN
Chairman of the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Diego, State of California

The above ordinance was adopted by the following vote:

Supervisor Jack Walsh, voting "Aye"
Supervisor Henry A. Boney being absent and not voting
Supervisor Harry F. Scheidle voting "Aye"
Supervisor Jim Bear voting "Aye"
Supervisor William A. Craven voting "Aye"

NOTICE OF HEARING ON RESOLUTION INITIATING PROCEEDINGS FOR ANNEXATION TO THE SPRING VALLEY SANITATION DISTRICT
(SUNNYSIDE ANNEXATION)

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Didectors of the Spring Valley Sanitation District of the County of San Diego has set September 21, 1971 at 9:30 a.m., in the North Chamber of the Board of Supervisors, Room 310, San Diego County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway, San Diego, California, as the time and place for hearing on the proposed annexation to the Spring Valley Sanitation District. The territory which is the subject of and will be affected by said annexation contains approximately 75 acres located generally south of the Sweetwater Reservoir, east of the proposed State Highway 125, in the vicinity of San Miguel and Proctor Valley Roads, in the County of San Diego, State of California. A description of the boundaries of the affected territory and other particulars relating to said annexation is on file in the office of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Diego as Document No. 441915 and may be examined by any interested person. Any person desiring to make written protest against said annexation shall do so by written communication filed with the Clerk of the Board of Directors not later than the hour set for hearing; a written protest by a landowner shall contain a description sufficient to identify the land owned by him; a protest by a voter shall contain the residential address of such voter.

Dr. Leaky Is Subject Of Museum Film

The film for this weekend at the San Diego Natural History Museum is the story of the world-famous Dr. Leaky, whose latest discoveries have increased the knowledge of man and his early origins.

When he was a student in Cambridge University he had a theory that mankind first lived in Africa, not Asia as was popularly believed. He felt so sure that he was right that he went to Tanzania's Olduvai Gorge in search of fossil evidence. Leaky and his wife, Mary, worked for decades before finding the fossilized remains of a totally different species of man. Analysis confirmed that the Leaky find was hundreds of thousands of years older than any previously known species.

Films are shown at the Natural History Museum every Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Saturday's film is shown at 3:30 p.m. and the Sunday showings are at 1:30 and 3 p.m. Museum members are admitted free as are visitors already in the museum.

U.S. railroads employ about 38,000 engineers to operate the locomotives.

HARD AT WORK — Herb Ketell, left, and Harry Scheidle busy themselves with the task of breaking ground for the Spring Valley Park. Over 200 local residents turned out for the groundbreaking Sunday afternoon, which featured entertainment by two local singing groups, free punch and coffee provided by the Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce, and a community picnic. Ketell is parks chairman for the Spring Valley Parks and Recreation District and heads the park committee of the Chamber, while Scheidle, a member of the County Board of Supervisors, was instrumental in getting the lease agreement for the park approved.

EVERYDAY PEOPLE — The "Everyday People," a group of local youngsters from the Campus Life organization, were on hand to entertain local residents who attended groundbreaking ceremonies at the site of the Spring Valley Park. The group sang several folk and popular tunes for the 200 spectators at the affair, which was topped off by a community picnic.

Over 200 S.V. Residents Turn Out For Groundbreaking Ceremonies

Over 200 local residents turned out for groundbreaking ceremonies at the site of the Spring Valley Park last Sunday afternoon, in spite of warm weather that gave performers a hard time keeping their instruments in tune.

The ceremonies marked another step in the long road to construction of the 4-acre park on land formerly used a sewer treatment facility by the Spring Valley Sanitation District.

Speakers at the affair included Larry Timmons, chairman of the Spring Valley Park and Recreation District; Jim Jordan, co-chairman of the district; Herb Ketell, the district's park chairman; Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce President Bill Fitzpatrick; and County Supervisor Harry Sheidle, who represents this area on the Board of Supervisors.

Also on hand at the celebration were a pair of singing groups. The first was the Four Fortes, a barbershop quartet, who entertained the crowd with their own arrangements of some old favorites. The second group was the Everyday People, a group from the Campus Life Organization.

The celebration was topped off by a community picnic with free punch and coffee served by the Chamber of Commerce.

Herb Ketell, who along with Sheidle has worked constantly for the past year to get the lease agreement for the proposed park, told the crowd how the park has come along.

Ketell said that when he took over as park chairman for the district, it was generally conceded that there was no site available in Spring Valley where a park could be constructed.

After considerable research, he said, he found out why. Although there are several spots in Spring Valley where a park could be built, even with twice the assets of the district the cost would have been prohibitive.

He said that he then tried to find somebody who would donate land as a gift to the community for the park. He was unsuccessful there, also.

After considerable research, however, it was learned that the former sewer treatment site of the Spring Valley Sanitation District might be leased. The idea was brought to an attorney, who said that it seemed to be perfectly legal and feasible to him.

Then the big step was taken, as the proposal was brought to the Board of Supervisors, who, through work by Sheidle and Ketell, agreed to the concept of the lease agreement.

Under terms of the agreement, the Spring Valley Park and Recreation District will lease the land for $1,000 per acre for 25 years. Also included in the agreement is a right-to-purchase clause for the District, which would give Spring Valley the first option to buy the four acres and the rest of the eleven acre treatment site.

The lease agreement has now been approved by the Board of Supervisors and preliminary plans for the park have been drawn up. Once plans are finalized, construction will begin.

FOUR FORTES — A crowd pleasing barbershop quartet known as the Four Fortes en a group of barbershop singers who meet at tertained local spectators at groundbreaking ceremonies for the Spring Valley Park Sunday afternoon. The group, which is part of a group of barbershop singers who meet at College Grove each week, sang a couple of old favorites in spite of Sunday's warm weather.

Exhibit To Run Through September 12

A set of fifteen woodblock prints of insects and flowers by Kitagawa Utamaro will be on view at the Fine Arts Gallery of San Diego, Balboa Park, through September 12. The exhibition is sponsored by the Asiatic Arts Committee.

This set of fifteen prints, a gift of Mrs. John Jeffers, is unique in the work of this important Japanese artist. The set entitled "Book of Insects and Flowers" was published in 1788 when the artist was thirty-five years old.

Utamaro, in whom all the elegance of the Ukiyo-e (translates as "this transient world") school came to complete culmination, was born in 1753 and at a very early age his widowed mother entrusted him to the care of the master artist, Sekiyen, who trained the boy as an artist.

Auditions Set By Choral Club

The San Diego Choral Club announced this week that it is seeking women who are interested in becoming members. Mrs. Roger Townsend, membership chairman, said that auditions will be held September 9 at 9:30 a.m. and September 16 at 11:30 a.m. at the East San Diego Christian Church, 3777 44th st., San Diego.

Vocal training is not required for memberships in the club, but experience in church or school choral groups is helpful. Applicants should bring their own music for auditions. An accompanist and babysitting will be provided.

Mrs. Townsend, 6845 Estrella Ave., San Diego, or Mrs. John Woodrow, 7820 Canton Drive, Lemon Grove, 466-3023, may be contacted for more information.
